MLLE LENGLEN INTERVIEWED IN NEW YORK

Explains Plans of Tour To "Daily" Representative

TO PLAY AT FORUM

Expresses Desire to See McGill and Meet Her Canadian Colinguists

(Special to McGill Daily)

New York, Oct., 2—"I am looking forward eagerly to my trip to Canada, and particularly to my visit to Montreal," said Suzanne Lenglen, former world's tennis champion, who has recently joined the professional ranks, in a special interview with a representative of the "McGill Daily" at the Vanderbilt Hotel here today.

"I have heard much about the hospitality of Canadians and of Montrealers in particular. It will be nice to be among French-speaking people, who I am told, are even more French than ourselves."

Mlle. Lenglen created a stir in amateur tennis recently by signing a $200,000 with "Cold Cash" C. C. Pyle, who, having succeeded in his efforts to inaugurate professional football in the United States, is now turning his attentions to professional tennis. Mlle. Lenglen has just arrived from France, accompanied by Paul Feret, fourth ranking French player, who has also joined the professional ranks.

Mr. Pyle has planned a four months tour of the United States and Canada with a number of well known tennis players, which includes such stars as Mlle. Lenglen, Miss Mary K. Browne, Vincent Richards, Howard Kinsey, Paul Feret, Harvey Snodgrass, and several others. Exhibition matches are to be played in Montreal at the Forum on Oct. 23.

Mr. Pyle has a specially prepared playing surface, which can be layed down in sections, and which will be carried with him throughout the tour. This will be of great advantage to the players, as they will be enabled to play on a uniform court every day.

Mlle. Lenglen seemed in splendid health and was looking forward to her tour. She readily granted an interview with the representative of the "Daily", and although he was kept waiting for a period of two hours, he was quite content, as he remembered that Queen Mary had also been kept waiting by the temperamental French star.

The champion spoke perfect English, with the slightest touch of foreign accent which if anything accentuated its charm, although she said that she had never been to an English school, and had picked up her knowledge during her tennis campaigns on the Riviera. Mlle. Lenglen said she had heard a great deal about McGill University, and she hoped that her stay in Montreal would be long enough to permit a visit to that institution. The "Daily" representative promised that he would conduct her around the Campus.

On being asked what she thought of Rene Lacoste winning the United States singles championship, the French star, who was at the time speaking French said, "Naturellement je suis bien contente." Mlle. Lenglen admitted that she was surprised when Lacoste beat Borotra so easily in the final. "I see no differance between Lacoste, Borotra and Cochet", she said, "They are all champions, and to select one as being outstanding is impossible. Borotra won the Wimbleton tournament this year, Cochet won the French National, while Lacoste captured the U.S. National indoor title and outdoor."

Mlle. Lenglen is a most charming young lady, whose premier desire is to please and favourably impress everyone with whom she comes in contact. She is extremely vivacious and shows interest in, and knowledge of everything discussed. There is no sign of boredom, affectation, or condescension in her manner whatsoever and one's impression is not that of a haughty world's champion but rather that of the average cultured and accomplished young lady.

Mr. Feret who was in the room throughout the interview, is a tall, clean cut, quiet spoken young man, who looks every inch the athlete he is. He also spoke excellent English, but was content for the most part to allow Miss Lenglen to do the greater part of the talking. Feret rose to international fame this summer when he defeated Vincent Richards in France.

With regard to professional tennis, Mlle. Lenglen expressed the opinion that several more prominent American stars would soon join Pyle's list of players.

The interview should be of special interest to McGill undergraduates and Montrealers as a whole, in view of the fact that Mlle. Lenglen will be seen in action here at the Forum in little more than two weeks time.

DR. ADAMS SENDS HIS BEST WISHES TO THE REUNION

General Sir Arthur Currie yesterday received a telegram from Dr. Frank D. Adams F. R. S. former Vice Principal of McGill University and Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

The telegram conveyed the best wishes of Dr. Adams and Mrs. Adams for the success of the graduate reunion, and wished all prosperity to Old McGill.

MOCK PARLIAMENT, WILL MEET OCT 18.

Extensive Debating Plans for Coming Session

FRESHMAN TROPHY

New Shield Presented For Impromptu Speaking By First Year Men

Colonel Bovey presided over a meeting of the Literary and Debating Society held yesterday afternoon at which several important matters were discussed.

The president announced that John Humphry has accepted the post of acting Prime Minister and that Lorne Webster has been approached with a view to his accepting the position as leader of the Opposition in the Mock Parliament. Two important dates have already been fixed, the first meeting of the Mock Parliament on Oct. 18th and the debate against Cambridge University which is set for Nov. 16th

It was decided that in future all Inter-class and Inter-faculty debates are to be waived in favour of the Mock Parliament. The reason for this somewhat drastic step is that the "lit" wishes students in the faculties of Science and Medicine (and in particular Freshmen) to take their place in the Cabinet and to turn out more regularly than they have in the past.

To this end the Society has decided to award a trophy (probably in the form of a Shield) for the best Impromptu Speech offered by a Freshman. This competition will probably be held in the very near future.

An extensive program of debates has been arranged for the coming session, and prominent amongst McGill's future rivals in the world of debating are:- Cornell, Syracuse and Bates University. It is also probable that members of the Mock Parliament will visit Toronto to hold a meeting there as the guests of that University. As a fitting climax to this interesting program it was decided that a team of debaters should be sent to England at the close of the session, to endeavour to hold their own against representatives of the leading British Universities.

To attain this end a very high standard of debating must be reached and the "Lit" wishes all students interested in public speaking to turn out and give their support to this Society.

ARTS SOPHOMORES MEET

Elections and Plans for Frosh. Occupied Second Year Men

Elections of officers and discussion of plans for initiating freshmen occupied the attention of those who attended a meeting of the class of Art '29 in the Biological Building yesterday.

Fred Urquhart was re-elected president for the year, while Henri Lafeu was raised to vice-presidency. K. Brown and Lawrence Marks will control the destinies of the class from the positions of secretary and treasurer respectively.

The suggestion that O'Meara of rugby fame, should act in the capacity of chief overseer in all initiation activities met will great approval from the entire class.

O'Meara was unfortunately not present to accept his appointment but it is expected that there will be no difficulty in persuading him.

The announcement that Arts '29 was in possession of a considerable bank balance brought the meeting to a successful close.

R. WHIDDINGTON IN DISCUSSION ON RESEARCH

Luminous Discharge Of Rare Gases Is Topic

LARGE GATHERING

Joint Meeting of Sigma Psi and Physical Societies

"The Luminous Discharge in Rare Gases" was the subject of an address delivered by Prof. R. Whiddingdon of Leeds University before a joint meeting of the Sigma Psi Society and the Physical Society yesterday afternoon.

Prof. Whiddingdon gave a very clear delinlation of his experiments on this subject, and finally the conclusions at which he arrived. The meeting was exceptionally well attended, many being present to hear the renowned professor in his first Canadian speech. The Professor is famous for the minuteness of his experiments, and for the good technique and skill in primitive work which characterizes all his efforts.

The speaker thought it a very strange thing that no one has ever thought of examining the positive column of the ordinary gases in very fast rotating mirrors. In ordinary cases the light through the gases appears as an ordinary column of light. If, however, a quartz tube is used through which a maximum voltage of 120 Volts is allowed to pass, in conjunction with very speedily rotating mirrors the light emanating from the gas will appear as an ordinary column of light in the mirrors, with, however, a certain lack of uniformity, though there is a certain definite formation for each gas. If again, the apparatus is treated in a calcium tube, the formation will be much clearer.

By means of slides, Professor Whiddington showed the assembly that the light from certain rare gases comes in distinct flashes, marked off quite strikingly on the revolving mirrors. Certain curious effects will be produced on these flashes by pressure,

MUSICAL SOCIETY OUTLINES PLANS

All Clubs Have Ambitious Programs

At the initial meeting of the Musical Association, held yesterday afternoon, the program of the Music Club, the University Band, the Choral Society and the Mandolin Club were outlined for the coming year and it is anticipated that music will take a large part in student activities this year.

At the opening of the meeting Lawrence Hart, president of the Musical Association, called for nominations for the office of vice-president of the society, E. M. Casey was unanimously elected to the office.

The programs of the four clubs in the association were then announced by the presidents of each organization.

Millard Astwood, president of the Music Club stated that it was not the intention of the club to hold a large concert as in previous years but to specialize more in Sunday arternoon Musicales, to be held the first Sunday in every month.

A. S. Allen, president of the Choral Society, said that his organization was concentrating on the production of Tom Jones, a light operetta, to be held about the beginning of March.

The Mandolin Club, Gerald Pickleman hoped, would again put on their theatre week at the Palace Theatre and also take part in a broadcasting night.

The University Band, stated Bandmaster Casey, would play at the football matches again this year, and probably make the trip to Toronto with the team. Plans were also under way for a broadcasting night and possibly a joint concert with the three other musical societies. Casey also said that this year the bands music would be of a light standard.

Hart expressed himself as well pleased with the programs announced and hoped that the clubs would work together with more cohesion than in previous years. He also proposed to hold meetings of the musical Association at least every two weeks in order to keep the members interested and posted on the activities of the four clubs composing the association.

Derelict Ford Comes To Grief Near College

There was a slight hold up in the Sherbrooke St. traffic at 7.30 last night when a ford touring car collided with a Rolls Royce at the corner of Sherbrooke and University

No serious injuries were sustained, but a McGill student suffered much humiliation for a sophomore when he was hurled violently to the pavement on his face. Other persons were slightly scratched and bruished.

The ford received much the worst damage and it is unlikely that it will ever be seen touring the Campus again. The other car was badly dented in the front.

The McGill Band makes it's first appearance of the season at the graduate dinner in the Mount Royal Hotel next Friday evening where it will take a prominent part in the programme. The band leader, Eddie Casey, has called a full practise to take place in the Union ballroom this afternoon at 5.15 p.m. sharp. The whole practise will be devited to rehearsing numbers to be played at the above functions. Attendance at practices so far has been very favourable but there are still many freshmen who play instruments who have not turned up. Mr. Casey points out that if this year's band is to hold up the reputation of last year's organization it is absolutely essential that the ensemble become complete as soon as possible.

To-morrow's Procession From Campus, to R.V.C.

Forming on the Campus as is done in May the Convocation procession to-morrow will wend its way to the Royal Victoria College. The Convocation will take place in Convocation Hall at R. V. C.

Much formality is always observed a definite academic order, both with the graduates and the staff, being strictly adhered to. The Hon. LL.D.'s the Governors, the Principal, the Chancellor and the Visitor lead the procession to the gates and there stand aside to watch the others file past. Upon reaching the college the parade stops, dividing into two lines which face inward The Visitor's party then pass through the ranks and into the college. The Visitor, Chancellor, and Principal enter the Faculty Room while the remainder of the Senior Party proceed to the platform.

The gathering outside the college then closes its anks and files into the Hall lead by the 1926 graduates. They fill up the Hall in the order of the march after which the Visitor and his party enter.

Graduates who wish to attend the Convocation and thus take part in the first official ceremony of the new Governor-General, will take their places in the possession before it moves off. They will be directed by the Marshal and his assistants.

GRADS ASSEMBLE IN NUMBERS FOR FALL REUNION.

Distinguished Gathering Register In Strathcona Hall

VARIED PROGRAM

Special Lectures to be Given — Buildings to be Thrown Open to Visitors

The graduates of McGill University are living up to their former college spirit and enthusiasm by coming in surprising numbers to join in the Graduates Re-Union which is to take place from October 6th to October 9th. The program of the celebrations promises to show a wide variation in interests, so that the graduates of faraway 1871 as well as the younger folk who graduated in more recent years are sure to have a very joyful Re-Union in the site of their old Alma Mater.

The registration of graduates started yesterday, and a large number of grads registered on the first day. Upwards of three hundred and fifty names were on the lists in the registration office at Strathcona Hall at six o'clock yesterday, and a much greater number can be expected to appear today and even after the Re-Union has really started. An early estimate of the number of old folks who will assemble here during the next few days is around thirteen or fourteen hundred, and even a greater number have been welcomed by the committee at the time of the rugby game on Saturday.

Among the three hundred and eighty one names placed on the lists so far, only about forty are women graduates, among whom is Miss Hurlbatt, of the R.V.C., an honorary graduate. One lady who is attending the Re-Union is known to have graduated in 1876, while several graduated in the eighties. The oldest living graduate who is registered as yet is Dr. Blackader, who graduated in 1871, and who now lives in Montreal. Some grads have come a long distance to attend. Among those present is Mr. Reid, who since he graduated in Pharmacy in 1906 has made St. Johns, in the British West Indies his home. Another gentleman, Mr. Copland, has made his residence in the province of Honan, in China, since graduation. A graduate of 1923 lives in Western Bay, Newfoundland, another one, a grad. of 1888 lives in Atlantic Beach, Florida, but both have nevertheless found time to revisit the old haunts of their youth in Montreal.

Special facilities and rights have been given the graduates, in order that they may fully enjoy their stay in Montreal. For those who love outdoor sports, special rights have been given by several city golf courses, while all will probably see the track meet on Friday afternoon and the Toronto-McGill Rugby game on Saturday. There will be special lunches

STUDENTS GET LOST IN ARTS BUILDING

Dean MacKay Assists in Relieving The Congestion

Usually sedate seniors rushing about after lost professors, Dean MacKay in the role of traffic director, and flustered freshmen adrift, marked the first morning of lectures in the new Arts building yesterday. Bill Gentleman, proud of his new charge, was the man of the hour. He and Dr. MacKay seemed to be the only persons present who had any idea of the geography of the edefice whatever. As early as 8.45 a.m. the corridors resounded with the busy chatter of curious co-eds and even notoriously late persons put in an early appearance to inspect the building.

Although lectures for the session began yesterday there is still much for the workmen to attend to before every classroom is ready for students. The contractors will profit by the holiday Wednesday and Friday when they will hustle the work on these rooms to completion, so that after next Monday the lectures may proceed without interruption.

According to figures received last evening from the Registrars office, registration in the Faculty of Arts has now mounted to 750 and the School of Commerce has 195. When late registrations are complete it is estimated close on 1000 students will be proud to call McGill College their campus home.

Scarlet Blazers Prove Popular With Students

The former demand for an official blazer has now been satisfied after many unsuccessful attempts a blazer which is a credit to Old McGill has been designed and placed on the market. Many have been sold to students through the summer.

The blazer is of a rare quality, being tailored in England from the best scarlet flannel and trimmed with white silk braid. It has three outside pockets, the handkerchief pocket bearing the McGill coat of arms. It is unlined and has metal buttons.

The design has been registered at Ottawa in accordance with the trade mark and design act by Mr. A. P. S. Glassco, secretary of the Royal Institute for the Advancement of Learning. F. J. Jackman Limited, by special appointment are exclusive distributors of the official blazer.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Grace Towers will give an address entitled "What is the Standard of living in Montreal" Friday afternoon will be devoted to discussion on health and the meeting will be addressed by Dr. S. Boucher, Director of the Department of Health of this City, who will act as chairman, Dr. H. B. Cushing, and Dr. A. B. Chandler.

The conference will be of great interest to McGill students and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend the meetings.

A lounge room has been put at the disposal of the visiting alumnae, fully equipped with desks and writing equipment. The large dining room will be used on Friday night for the big alumnae dinner, at which at least a hundred and eighty graduates are expected to attend.

Tickets are now available at Strathcona Hall, and will be on sale until Thursday afternoon. The convocation hall will also necessarily be used, so that authorities at the Hall are doing their best to prepare for their honoured guests.

FINAL DETAILS OF PEP RALLY ARE ANNOUNCED

Thousands Of Smokes Are Promised Students

8.30 IN UNION

Amaron And Nairn in Guise of Song and Cheer Leaders

Everything is now in readiness for the Pep Ralley to be held in the Union Ball Room at 8.30 tonight.

The tremendous number of 10,000 free smokes has been promised. Since the first intercollegiate football match will be held on Saturday against the University of Toronto the Pep Ralley provides a wonderful opportunity for the students to get together and the executive hope to see every man out.

The ralley is one of the premier events of the social season and the freshmen may meet on equal terms with the rest of the college in one large gettogether.

Errol C. Amaron, president of the students' council has promised to lead in the singing of "Alouette" and other old timers which in itself is an event of the first magnitude.

It is also rumoured that Amaron is endeavouring to procure the services of a sleight of hand expert who at a previous pep ralley made a rather too realistic disappearance of Sir Arthur Currie's watch

Despite this fact it is expected that Sir Arthur will attend while Colonel Bovey has already signified his intention of being present to give a short address to the gathering

A determined effort is also being made in an endeavour to have Dr. Stephen Leacock present to say a few words to the freshmen.

Coach Frank Shaughnessy has promised to let the boys in on the inside track as to McGill's chances for the rugby championship, while Captain Gordie Hughes, if his knee permits, will also be there to give the team's idea of the championship question and to give the fans a tip

FIRST MEETING OF THE SCARLET KEY

Information Bureau Will Be Established For Graduates

Under the chairmanship of Gordon Webster, who will continue to act in that capacity for the balance of the rugby season, the Scarlet Key Society held its first meeting of the 1926-27 session last evening. At the invitation of the Graduate Society it was decided that assistance should be given to the organization of graduate registration. Moreover, members of the society will meet the Toronto rugby team next Saturday and welcome them once more to McGill. The advisability of holding a tea dance Nov. 6th after the Queen's game was discussed, and the matter will be left in abeyance until a future meeting.

The Scarlet Key Society has during its short existence been of considerable assistance in lightening the burden of the Managers of the various clubs by meeting competitors of the University from out of town, and seeing to their adequate accommodation. The assistance that they are affording to the Graduate Society is a service parallel to their former functions. Graduates from many years and from distant corners of the world will be gathering this week at McGill; this latest evidence of the intensive organization and the multitudinous "activities" of present day college students will undoubtedly be of interest to them and will help to refresh memories, dimmed by time, of the days when undergraduates were neither so "active" nor so organized.

MONTREAL, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1926.

THE "PEP RALLY".

This evening the ball room of the Union will be the scene of an event which is becoming a regular annual affair at McGill. This is the "Pep Rally" which always attracts a large number of students to hear the speeches, join in the yells, and enjoy the cigarettes which are distributed free of charge.

The rally was originally started as a big get-together meeting of all the students, and was calculated to arouse friendship, good feeling and enthusiasm among the student body. All the rallies which have been held have been well attended and certainly enthusiastic, and the fall "Pep Rally" is now looked forward to as an institution at college.

Still there are those who strongly object to the idea. They claim that there is no need to have a rally of this kind to arouse spirit and enthusiasm among undergraduates, and they urge that students should display their zeal for the University rather by doing than by getting together to decide ways and means.

This is to some extent to be considered. But the fact remains that each year the "Pep Rally" has been a decided success. Coming as it does shortly after the opening of the fall term, it serves to bring one and all together, to give the Freshmen some idea of what is expected of them at the University, and to bring Freshmen and upper classmen in contact with one another.

If it only served one of these purposes the "Pep Rally" would be well worth while. Serving all three as it does it deserves the recognition of the student body as an event which requires the support and attendance of all.

OUR DEBT TO OUR ENEMIES.

Every man or woman who is worth his salt has enemies. One cannot succeed in any occupation without leaving somebody behind who will be jealous of his success. No man of high principles can go through life without making enemies. Yet instead of being thankful for our enemies and looking upon them as friends we hate them and consider them diabolical nuisances. One of the most successful public men of the country began by making an implacable enemy. This enemy was not one of those half-hearted, wishy-washy kinds who content themselves with vain cursing, but a real double-dyed, black-hearted enemy, the kind of an enemy that Mark Twain called "permanent and reliable." He never slept. He was on the job all the time. He had a diabolical ingenuity which he employed in devising ways and means of keeping the public man out of office and of blighting his political career. Sometimes he succeeded, oftener he did not. The very fact of his enmity kept the other man keyed up to the highest pitch.

He knew that a single mistake of judgment would bring his enemy down upon him. He knew that his enemy had strewn the way with pitfalls and that he must walk in the light or fall into them. He avoided the very appearance of evil lest he be put in a false position. And he himself confesses today that he owes his present eminence to the keenness and alertness of his implacable enemy.

We never succeed without battles, and battles are always between enemies. The battle develops ability and initiative, and after a few of them you make much better progress. If you have too easy a time you become over-confident and slothful, and when the real test comes you are not prepared for it. You must pit your strength and ingenuity against the cunning and craft of other men. If they are strong and energetic it will take all the mental alertness you have to defeat them. But whether you win or lose every battle sharpens your wits so much and leaves you that much better prepared for the next contest.

Do not make enemies unnecessarliy, but don't be afraid of those you do make. The more implacable and able your enemy is the better for you. Unless a man has several enemies, and able ones, too, he enters the game under a serious handicap.

THAT TERRIBLE TIPPING.

Most of us err and lapse at some time or another, but the result of our mistake rarely bears on others as a certain blunder that a certain someone made in a restaurant, or perhaps it was on the train. And if that certain someone could be located today, his (or her) days would be numbered. We refer to the bright person who first left a dime under the plate at a cafe, or who first pressed a quarter into the hand of a Pullman porter.

It is an absurd state of affairs when nothing short of an Act of Parliament will curtail this tipping business. An interesting experiment is now being made in the United States, where a "tipping schedule" has been posted for government employes, wherein they are allowed only a certain amount for such purposes.

Taxi drivers, waiters, bell-boys, and the like now regard the tip as their natural right. It is a queer notion at best. And advantage is taken by employers, who regulate wages to allow for a certain amount of tipping. No, we are not Scotch, but if anyone can justify this habit, we would be glad to fall into line.

Students are largely to blame regarding the tip. As far as we can learn, this system is far from popular with undergraduates at McGill. Does it not seem more than silly to growl about this tipping custom——and yet go on tipping?

PURE ENGLISH.

Some years ago over in the old land Sir Frederick Bridges and Sir Henry Newbolt launched a movement for pure English. It seems that active campaigns are going to be started here in Canada sometime during this fall.

So far as the dominion is concerned, such a movement comes at the right time—just after a political campaign in which the mother tongue has been sadly murdered by more than one would-be statesman.

Standards on this continent, if there are any, have been anything but stimulating to the study of pure English. It may be added that Englishmen themselves are not the least offenders, but that's no reason for us to sink into the slough of slang. This new movement we sincerely hope will gain a foothold, and a tonguehold, in Canada. And much would be gained by starting right here at McGill.

La Petit Parisien

Dear Monsieur McGill Daily:-

I have not had time to unpack my grip or tip ze porter when I hear ze voice of my companions which surround me and interrupt me in ze middle of my discourse.

"Hallo Monsieur DeBuckette, are you going to write for the McGill Daily ha ha ha?"

They always say "ha ha ha" and I begin to feel suspicious.

When I meet my roommate he say "Hello Gusty, can I borrow your tux? Are you gonna write for the McGill Daily ha ha ha?"

When I enter ze Arts building I am met by Monsieur Gentilhomme who clap me on ze back and say:

"Hello Mister Buckette, where have you put your locker key? Are you going to do any more of that writin' for the McGill Daily ha ha ha?"

And then who shall I meet but Monsieur Editor of ze Fortnightly who say, "Good-morrow brave friend from ze land of romance may I pronouce a few words of effusive welcome and comment on your greatly increased avoirdupois and are you going to pen some more of your pronunciamentos in the disastrous college daily ha ha ha?"

I say to all these "By gar I do not know!"

I have decide to take social oligy and ze professon say Good-morning Monsieur DeBuckette I am pleased to see you hear, are you gonne write some more of your stuff in the McGill daily ha ha ha?"

And after I have hear this from one hundred and one of my friends and companions, I come across Mlle. Marcille which I was despair of seeing.

"Ha-allo Missure DeBuckette, how pleased I am to se-e-e-e you, are you going to write some of your stuff in the McGill day-ay-ay-ayly?"

And I say yes and determine to write it to-day, and so Monsieur McGill Daily, here is my first contribution ha ha ha.

AUGUSTINE DeBUCKETTE

BELIEVES YOUTH IS NOT HAPPY TODAY

Dean of Women at Boston Laments Existing Boredom

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—(By Exchange Service). — "I believe young people today are generally unhappy," said Mrs. Lucy Jenkins Franklin, dean of women at Boston University, speaking before the ninth annual conference of normal school instructors at Framingham Normal School recently. "They seem to be pleasure bent, they seem to be socially and sometimes morally plunging, when in reality they are trying to rid themselves of being bored."

"If there is a term that characterizes the state of education today, it is the word 'bewilderment'", she asserted. "We are hopeful and happy to accept the challenge of Browning's 'Glory of the Imperfect.'"

"We are told by scientists and philosophers that during the past ten years the world has made progress, perhaps we should say a change, equal to a normal growth of one hundred years. Many of the older generation are attempting to solve post-war problems with pre-war equipment. Why attempt to adhere to pre-war standards and not prejudices?

"When I hear a person say that youth today cares only for pleasure and thrills, I challenge the statement. They are bored with themselves because they do not understand themselves and are seeking release. They are groping for something real, true, tangible and challenging in life. Just now they are muddling through. The question is: Who is capable of helping them?

"Could we not well begin to put a little less emphasis upon the slogan, 'Learn by Doing,' and a little more upon 'Learn by Thinking'?

"If we could teach our youth to study themselves as ethical beings, as contributors to the ethical world, and with selves that deserve the highest type of expression, I firmly believe we would be helping them at the point where they need and want and will be thankful for help. Who are the ones to give youth the real help they need

"It is the young-old father and mother who educate and re-educate themselves in order to understand their children, who keep the confidence of their children at whatever cost to their prejudices.

"It is this group, that I like to call 'The Rising Older Generation,' with their vision of the 'Glory of the Imperfect' and their toil in the continuity of contact with youth, which will lead us safely through the years just ahead."

Correspondence

The sentiments expressed in letters published in this column are those of the writers, not neressarily of the editors. Signed communications from anyone interested in the welfare of McGill University will be printed, Anonymity will be preserved when requested but the writer's name and address must be attached as a mark of good faith.

Correspondents. will please write legibly and use one side of the paper only. If you would be pungent, be brief.

The Editor,
McGill Daily

At the present time within the University Campus several canvassers are seeking subscriptions to the McGill Fortnightly Review.

I was approached today and I immediately asked for the Personnel of the Editorial Board. I was informed that the names of the Editors were being withheld.

It is generally understood that all organizations bearing the names of McGill publish lists of their officers. I think that the names of those who are on the Editorial Board of this Review should be given out.

As the Daily is the only medium for University news, it would certainly justfy its existence by publishing the names of the Editors of the Fortnightly Review.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN SCOTT.

The Editor,
McGill Daily

Dear Sir: May we use your columns to bring a matter, which we regard as important, to the attention of students in the first two years of the Double Course B.Sc., M.D.? Looking in retrospect at the first four years of this course which we have just completed, we would make several observations which may be of interest to those a few years behind us.

We have found ourselves many times to be handicapped by the fact that we had not studied Calculus. A knowledge of Calculus, even if only elementary, would have been of inestimable value in the study of Physical Chemistry. Indeed, we doubt the value of undertaking an advanced course in that subject, as is requested in the Fourth Year, without such preparation.

The same applies to the course given by the Physics Department in Electricity and Magnetism which is prescribed for the Third Year.

Since, too, the present tendency in experimental biology is to investigate processes upon physico-chemical basis, using quantitive methods, be believe that we are jutified in advisiting any who intend to do serious study in this field, to obtain a broader and more thorough grounding in Mathematics than is at present required by the curriculum for the Double Course.

Regarding the time available for taking such a course in Calculus, we believe that there is ample in the Second Year, a year which we found to be a disproportionately light one.

These views are shared by some other students and by some members of the staff.

Thanking your for your space, we remain.

Yours truly,

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN TENNIS AND FOOTBALL

A sports writer wandered into the gymnasium at Andover Acadamy after football practice and found Frank L. Luce, Jr., of Dorchester, former Massachusetts junior tennis champion, nursing a charleyhorse, a football accident, suffered in practice. "Frank", said the sports writer, "What's the toughest game, tennis or football"? Everybody laughed, except Luce, who, evidently, thought "there was much to be said on both sides."

"Well" said Luce, picking his way amidst his thoughts. "I find a three-out-of-five-set tennis match much more taxing than a football game. I am more likely to be exhausted at the end of five sets of tennis than I am after four periods of football. Of course, my standpoint is taken from playing at quarterback, where, on the defense, you have little to do. Playing football on the line is something I have seldom experienced. There is another point to bring out. I find there is a vast difference between football practice and football games. The rugged, crashing monotony of football practice is far and away the hardest form of athletics I know. At practice there is no excitement to carry you when fatigue takes a grip. And I took this charleyhorse in practice.

DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

With W. A. MacDonald.

CAMPUS SOCIETY.

Ivan Raynor, of Hamilton, returned home yesterday after spending a week with friends in Kingston. Raynor also spent some time in Toronto early this season with the Argonauts. Owing to complications that are sure to develop, it is almost certain that Raynor will not play football for either Argos or Hamilton this year.

• • • • •

The many admirers of Harry (Red) Batstone will be glad to hear that he is again returning to play intercollegiate football. It was thought at the end of last fall that Batstone was lost to intercollegiate rugby for good and indeed this year the crack halfback turned out with Argos. The latest reports, however, have it that he will return to Queen's to follow a course in medicine. Batstone came to Queen's from Argos four years ago and graduated from college last spring. COACHES SEE END OF FORWARD PASS

Claims New Regulation Sounds Death Knell of Play

James "I. Foley, writing in the Marquette Tribune has some interesting things to say about the new rule affecting the American forward pass. Of particular interest is statement that some coaches in the east see in the new five-yard penalty rule the beginning of the death knell for the play. Foley says:

"It will be interesting this year to follow the various systems which will be in vogue among the coaches due to the revision of the forward pass rule which imposes a five-yard penalty in each case where a team makes more than one incomplete forward pass during the same series of four downs.

"Opinion is divided throughout the country on the outcome. Teams, principally in the East, which have not taken the forward pass into serious consideration, are more or less elated over the legislation against the pass. They have been fighting the progress which has entered the game since the growing use of the pass. Coaches who have used the pass as a formidable weapon for and against the new ruling. Some of those who favor the new rule state that the forward pass has only meant that it was to be used as a threat and it will still be in as great use this year as in others. The opponents of the rule see the beginning of the end for the pass with the present rule. And when the rules committee meets after the football season there will be considerable "lobbying" by both sides."

Walter Eckersall of the Chicago Tribune, sees as an effect of the new ruling the further development of the running attack. It is safe to surmise that a team which does not have accurate passers and receivers is not going to take a chance on a penalty unless they are in desperate straits and ready to throw wild at the end of a game with the hope of one of them bringing the needed yardage."

INTERFACULTY FOOTBALL

Meeting of Managers This Afternoon in Music Room

Interfaculty football managers will meet in the Music room of the Union at 5 o'clock this afternoon to discuss plans for the season. A schedule will be drawn up and published in tomorrow's Daily and all previous schedules are hereby nullified. It is absolutely necessary that all interfaculty managers attend the meeting or send a representative as all plans for the coming campaign will be discussed.

ARTS RUGBY PRACTICE

There will be a practice of the Arts rugby team on the old campus at 4 o'clock. This will be the first practice of the squad and all freshmen wishing to make the team besides those of last year's squad are requested to turn out.

MEDICAL RUGBY PRACTICE

A full practice of the Medical football team will be held on the old campus tomorrow afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. As the first game is scheduled for Friday, the executive makes it imperative that everyone desirous of making the team report for the practices. Dressing rooms will be arranged for at Strathcona Hall and uniforms will be provided.

RUGGER PRACTICE

There will be a practice of the English rugger team on the east campus at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a practice game, beginning at 2 o'clock the line-up to be announced in tomorrow's paper.

DINNER FOR TRACK MEN IN CAFETERIA

Dr. Tees and Coach Van Wagner Will Address Team

The track team is to have a small pep rally of its own in the Union Cafeteria just previous to the big rally which will take place later in the ball room upstairs. The rally will be in the nature of a get-together dinner at which members of the team will have an opportunity to mingle with one another and get better acquainted. The unfortunate things about track work is that because of the variance of events, many of the men in the running events are slow in becoming acquainted with men in the field events. Each man will pay for his own meal which will be served at 6.45 in the cafeteria.

Dr. Tees, honorary president of the track club, will have a few words to say to the team and Coach Van Wagner will also make a few remarks regarding training. All those who have turned out for track and those who intend to report for practices are cordially invited.

The track squad has been swelled in numbers to present the greatest turnout in years. The oldest member of the team cannot recall such enthusiam shown by devotees of the cinder paths, and with many freshmen swelling the ranks each day hopes are raised for a strong representative in the intercollegiate meet. The freshmen-sophomore meet also promises to be a keenly contested affair and will be a real test for the many newcomers who are as yet practically unknown quantities. Ross, a new man from Ridley was the latest recruit to turn out yesterday. Another welcome guest was Wallie Goforth, who was prominent in the longer runs a year or so ago and who turned out to aid in the coaching and timing.

GOLF MATCH POSTPONED

Students Play Staff on Oct. 15

The students will meet the staff of McGill University in their annual golf game at Dixie in the near future. The match which was originally set for the 8th of October has been postponed until the 15th which day will be a full holiday. The Principal and Staff prefer this day for the annual tournament.

Warde Allan, third year Medicine, and the members of the McGill Golf Club will organize the undergraduate team.

Players will be chosen from this game to represent the university in the forthcoming Intercollegiate Championship to be held on Oct. 22nd and 23rd in all probability over the Royal Montreal Golf Course. Those wishing to take part in this game are asked to get in touch with Warde Allan, 26 McTavish St., Up. 8633.

SOCCER TEAM GOING WELL

Coach Satisfied With Progress Held Meeting

Coach Finlay of the soccer team is quite satisfied with the progress of all soccer players. Yesterday a fine workout took place and the time was spent in short passing and control of the ball.

The soccer team has a very strenuous program before it and it is necessary for all players to attend practices and keep in condition.

Two teams have been chosen from the players who have been practicing and they will meet today on the Campus at 4.30. It is essential that all the players picked to participate in the test match turn out.

After the practice the coach, manager, asst.-manager and captain of the team are asked to convene after the practice for a short meeting.

The following are the teams:

Blues—Blackmore, Allan, Sparks, Violette, Taylor, Quintin, McKinnon, Scott, Seaton, Denny, Doherty.

Reds—Amaron, Giovando, McLeod, Kelland, Maule, Helwig, Watt, Brain, Moffatt, Estall, Gavin.

Kick-off 4.30 sharp.

SENIORS DRILL HARD FOR VARSITY GAME.

Two Heavy Practices Ordered by Coach Shaughnessy

PAISLEY ASSISTED

Former McGill Star Coached Half Line — Injuries Keep Men Out

Lack of condition stood out prominently in Saturday's game with the Old Boys' and it was on this that Coach Shaughnessy centred his attention in yesterday's drills. Conditioning and more conditioning was the order of the day. During the early hours of the morning before lectures, the coach had the men going through drill and again this afternoon the performance was repeated.

Pep Paisley, McGill's star halfback of a few years ago, turned out yesterday to coach the half line and took St. Germain under his tutelage for a kicking workout. Joe Cameron was not out, because of the serious illness of his mother which necessitated his immediate return home after Saturday's game. As a matter of fact, Joe received the telegram before the game but went in and played through the contest, taking the train immediately after.

Captain Gordie Hughes, Littlefield and Sharpe, who received injuries of a minor sort in Saturday's struggle were absentees. Gordie's injury is not as serious as it was first thought and it is expected that he will be out in uniform in a few days. Littlefield and Sharpe, the promising recruit from Ridley, are also expected to return to the line-up shortly. Hogan is still on the injured list with a fractured rib but yesterday's drill brought out both Arnold and Simpson, who have suffered crocks lately.

More hard grind for the Varsity game on Saturday will be the order of the day, tomorrow.

ALL HOCKEY GAMES CANCELLED BY YALE

Delay in New Arena Construction is Reason

New Haven, Oct. 4.— The estate of H. W. Walker has made such slow progress in the construction of the new arena in this city that it is now evident that there is no chance of completing the building in time for the approaching hockey season.

Due to this situation, Yale has been compelled to abandon hockey for this winter, according to a statement made tonight by H. F. Woodcock general manager of the Yale Athletic Association. It was concluded at a recent meeting attended by Laurence Noble, hockey captain; Herbert Walker, manager; E. S. Bronson, chairman of the graduate hockey committee; and Clarence Wanamaker, coach of hockey competition without local practice because trips to New York, Princeton, Boston and other points for practice are detrimental to the players. Therefore, there will be no Freshman or University hockey games either at home or away this winter.

Woodcock has communicated these conditions to all of the teams on Yale's extensive hockey schedules asking for cancellation of all the games. The season gave promise of being one of the most interesting in the history of the sport at Yale with the completion of the new arena and it is with much regret that the Athletic Association and the hockey committee were forced to decide upon and announce the abandoment of this sport.

Very little is being done on the arena building at present, all of the constuction work being suspended excepting the steel frame and trusses.

The Athletic Association had signed a lease with Walker for control of the plant for four months of each year for a period of 16 years and was to have taken possession November 18.

It is possible that arrangements may be made with Ray Bishop to operate an inter-class hockey league on his out-door Woodbridge rink, but under the circumstances this is the only possible activity which will be attempted in hockey at Yale this year

COACH ORIGINATES NEW KICK

"Boot Boot" Invention of Geo. Foster Sanford

George Foster Sanford, advisory coach of the Rutgers football team, originator of the huddle system, the multiple kick, the old tandem play, and the coaching tower, today announced his invention of a new kick. The kick, known as the "boot boot", will be resorted to in attempts for points after touchdowns. Sanford said three players are necessary in its execution and that the ball leaves the ground in less than two seconds after the pass from centre. One player places his leg sideways on the ground, the quarterback braces the ball against his instep, and the kicker, with a single step forward, boots it over the cross bar. There is no artificial tee and the ball touches no one after it leaves tha ground.

G. WHIDDINGTON IN RESEARCH DISCUSSION

by a magnetic field, and by the difference in the rare gas used. The lecturer went on to state his theory that the flashes were produced by the positive ions which travelled the length of the tubes. This in conjunction with the an assumption that the velocity is inveresly proportional to the pressure, will make it easy to understand that these flashes are caused by the crowding from behind of positive ions which are in the van.

The lecturer's theory is, "that, between the anode and the cathode, the cathode rays are produced, and, gaining speed are radiated and produce virtual or "ghost" cathode rays, which in turn gain speed, produce more cathode rays which once more produce the same phenomenon." This when we assume that the velocity varies as the viscosity to the pressure explains the curious spectacle of flashes of light instead of one large sheet in the rotating mirror.

The Professor proved by experiment that despite the fact of the variation of light in the tude, the current of electricity through the tube shows absolutely no variation. From this point the speaker went on to elucidate the meaning of what are commonly called sterrations. He explained by means of lantern slides that when two sets of the flashes he had before referred to were in conjunction that is, when two gases were investigated at the same time instead of only one, one set of heavy lines will be produced instead of the two sets of parallel flashes. This line will pass through the shorter diagonals of the parallelogram formed by the two initial sets of flashes.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Dr. King on behalf of the assembly.

and dinners, when old friends from different faculties and years meet once more in conviviality and companionship. Clinics will be open to lovers of the medical profession, special lectures will be offered by the Arts Faculty and the Theological colleges. The science laboratories and classrooms will be open for inspection, and the Science Graduates will be given a tour of the harbour. In addition to this will be the governors' Reception, on Wednesday evening and a garden party on Thursday afternoon at Macdonald College. There will also be the huge Re-Union dinner at the Mount Royal Hotel on Friday night, a meeting of the graduates Society on Friday morning in the Moyse Hall, and several faculty, fraternity and group dinners. Probably the biggest event will be the annual fall Convocation, which has been greatly amplified this year because of the re-union and the presence of the Governor General, Lord Willingdon. The graduates are to be in the parade and to take part in the ceremonies.

Below is given a list of those who registered yesterday at the Re-Union Headquarters at Strathcona Hall:

CHAPEL SERVICE

"The chapel service in the American college has not had a fair deal as respects the hours of its placing. It has been put in some colleges at the hour immediately after breakfast; in the old time it was put before breakfast. It has therefore served as a roll-call. Ithas also in other colleges been switched in between lectures and recitations in the course of the forenoon's work, when students were hardly free and when their minds were weighed down with the mistakes they had made in the last recitation or with other mistakes they might make in the forthcoming conference. It has also, in still other colleges, been put in just before the midday meal, when men are more hungry for physical than for spiritual nutriment. It has also been placed at the close of the day, when students are tired and should be out of doors."—Charles F. Thwing in the New York Times.

on the coming game with the University of Toronto.

The Track Team's hopes and aims will be extolled by Coach Van Wagner who will be assisted no doubt by Amaron in his capacity of Captain of the Track Team.

Another big feature of the rally will be the appearance of Gordie Naun in the role of assistant to Jack Duckworth in the cheer leaders section of the program.

Special slides of several old time songs, which in the parlance of the yokels, are rated as red hot numbers, have been made and will be flashed on the screen so that all will be able to join in the singing.

Professor Walter Clapperton, director of the Choral Society will lead the singing. There is also a claim rampant that Freddie Cross has taken a special course in old time music in order that he may provide an appropriate accompaniment.

Gross' Band will be there in full force with a large selection of the latest numbers, good music will therefore be there in plenty.

The Cafeteria will remain open till the rally is over and Pierre 's preparing a protent lotion which he claims will soothe the tonsils of the lustiest rooter.

Finally, that immortal being, "Gridiron Gus," it is officially announced, will whisper much smooth comment on the football question, the gymnisium evil and other topics. This in itself is a feature which usually only the more mature members of the undergraduate body are allowed to tune in on.

Hazing of any sort, form or description is absolutely forbidden so freshmen need have no fears all frehmen rules being cancelled for the evening.

used to be a popular wail in College circles. Today it is about as obsolete as the one-ring circus. And the reasons are not hard to find. Up-to-date equipment, a capable staff coupled with an honest effort to please have done the trick. Get the best for less.
